Lou Clary Fatally Injured In Truck- Locomotive Collision Saturday Morning; Died Tuesday Morning

Suffered A Fractured Back; Funeral Being Held This Afternoon; Came Here In 1928 From Saskatchewan; Had Been Active Worker At Legion.

Lou Clary, 52, died at 2 a.m. Tuesday from injuries suffered when a three ton Dodge truck which he was driving, while in the employ of West Canadian Collieries, became involved in a collision with a C.P.R. locomotive at a railway crossing near Bellevue at 9 a.m. Saturday.

Critically injured Mr. Clary was taken to Bellevue hospital where X-Ray pictures revealed he had suffered a broken back. His condition worsened during his three days in the hospital and death came to relieve his suffering early Tuesday morning.

The truck was a total wreck. The impact carried it a considerable distance and while being pushed by the engine underneath a portion of the West Canadian lorry it damaged some supports.

A coroner's jury was called at 2 p.m. Tuesday and upon having the body identified called it to be released for burial.

Deceased was born at Kent County, England and at the tender age of six months was brought by his parents to Souris, Man. When a young man he moved to Lancer, Saskatchewan, where he married Miss Blanche Huffman in 1918. Ten years later they and their family moved to Coleman where deceased gained employment as a truck driver with McGillivray Creek, a position he held until recent months when he entered the employ of West Canadian Collieries as a truck driver.

Lou, as he was widely known, was very popular among a wide circle of friends. Fond of sport he was a booster of local teams and upon the organization of lawn bowling at the local branch of the Canadian Legion he became a most enthusiastic player.

Surviving are Mrs. Clary, daughters Shirley and Joy and a son Paul, three brothers William and Jack of Lancer and Lyle of Battum, Sask., and one sister Mrs. Almer Campbell, of Lancer. The brothers and sisters arrived on Monday and saw him before his death.

The funeral will be held from the Family Residence in East Coleman at 2.30, services being conducted in St. Paul's United church with Rev. Dr. R. Magowan officiating. Interment will be made in Coleman Union cemetery.

Cubs And Burdett Split Ball Series On Sunday

All Square at One Game Each in Southern Alberta Semi-Finals; Series to be Continued at Bow Island Next Sunday.

Coleman Cubs and Burdett Combines are on even terms in the best of five semi-finals of the southern Alberta senior baseball playdowns as a result of a double-header split in a twin bill played at the Coleman diamond Sunday last. The visitors won the opener 4-2 and the Cubs came back strong in the night-cap to win 7-5.

The afternoon game was highlighted by a brilliant fielding display by the visitors who committed only one error. Lefty Kimoto was the leading batter, collecting three hits in four trips to the plate. Fleming of the Combines and Kovack, of the Cubs, hit circuit blows in powerful batting displays.

Coleman's jittery fielding display resulted in the visitors scoring three unearned runs on five costly errors, to go one up in the series.

The evening tilt again showed the Combines holding a fielding edge, committing three errors while the locals booted the ball for five. However two rallies in the sixth and seventh innings enabled the Cubs to overcome a 5-3 deficit to tie the series at one game each.

Power hitting again was very noticeable as Fleming and Bert Knibbs homered for the visitors and George Yoshinaka and Alex Kovack scored circuit blows for Coleman. Charlie Kitaguchi and Phil Nelson led the batters as each collected three hits.

Threatening Burdett rallies in the seventh were cut short as two sterling double plays by the locals gave Stumpo Kimoto sufficient support to win by a 7-5 count.

The series will be continued at Bow Island next Sunday.

Firebosses Seek New Agreement

The scale committee of the Western Canada Firebosses' Association held a meeting at the Labor Temple Saturday night to draw up a tentative new agreement, since the present working agreement with the coal mine operators terminates September 30.

In the new agreement, the firebosses are asking for a premium for nightshift duty, and for an additional week's annual vacation. They now have two weeks' annual vacation.

The firebosses, whose work it is to enforce the provincial acts of the province relative to the mining industry, and who also direct the safe methods of mining coal, are at present putting on a safety drive in the mining industry.

Volunteer Help Required At Skating Arena

Work Commences Each Week- Day Evening at 5 p.m. And Every Wednesday Afternoon.

Corrugated Aluminum sheeting has been received by the Coleman Sports Association to be placed on the roof of the Skating Arena. Work has already started although it has been hampered in great degree by poor weather.

A joint appeal by the Sports Association and the Board of Trade has been sent out to the public asking for volunteer help in the work of re-roofing the arena. O. Celli has been given the task of laying the roofing but volunteer help would considerably lower the cost of the work and the money saved could be spent on some other worthy community project or directed in further improvements to the arena.

On Wednesdays the work starts at 1 p.m. and on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Fridays the work starts at 5 p.m. in order that as much volunteer help as possible can be made available.

There is no necessity to ask any Association official if one might be permitted to work at the arena, just take a tool in your hand and go down to the arena where Mr. Celli will be only too pleased to assign you to some task.

Coleman Fish & Game Assoc. Seeks To Prevent Extinction Of Wildlife In This Area

Coleman Fish & Game Association is appealing to the fishermen and hunters to unite to conserve the fish and game in this area and thus save it from extinction. It will endeavor to accomplish this objective by injecting re-newed vigor in the club and by seeking a larger and more enthusiastic membership.

Following is the appeal drafted by the secretary of the local association and directed to all sportsmen in the Crow's Nest Pass area:

"Cautioning All Sportsmen . . . Leave Some Fish and Game for the Future"

"The wildlife crisis that has been stalking our game for years is about to pounce upon it and wipe out the last remaining traces of a once great natural resource."

"Now is the time for us to decide whether our children will ever see this wildlife in its natural habitat. The alternative will be a few pictures and stories of the good old days.

"Statistics show that a count on our fish, bird game and big game now is a mere fraction of that of a generation ago. We have all enjoyed the slaughter . . . now we MUST PAY FOR IT and conserve what is left until these valuable resources are normal again.

"REMEMBER THIS SPORTSMEN: If we do nothing at all now to conserve there is still another way . . . closed seasons for years and years will help to gradually regain what has been lost. Do you want to see it come to that?

"We agree with you. Our organization has faded to practically nothing due to lack of interest on all sides. However the club has not been dead. We have planted between 7,000 and 8,000 rainbow fingerlings in this area in July and have approximately 70,000 cutthroat fingerlings due this week. These are the first cutthroats to be planted in this area and should do very well in our waters.

"Now you have a rough idea of the gravity of the situation Support us by turning out at our next meeting, date to be announced, and bring along a friend, whether he be young or old."

"We are counting on you sportsmen of the Pass." Coleman Fish & Game Assoc.

Mary Castellano Won Calgary Popularity Contest

Contest Was Provincial Wide and Coleman Girl Won Over Six Other Candidates: Awarded $100 Cheque as 1st Prize.

Rising Living Costs

FOR SOME TIME THERE HAS BEEN widespread concern over the steady increase in the cost of living in Canada. It is true that prices have risen alarmingly, and that in spite of general increases in incomes, it has become very difficult for many citizens to meet the present costs of food and other necessities. It was expected that prices would rise after the war and Canadians have suffered considerably less in this respect than have the people of most other countries. Where no economic controls were enforced during the war or in the years following it, prices and wages rose to fantastic levels, but even in those countries where these factors were regulated, it has not been possible to avoid the trend to inflation, as controls were gradually removed.

Dollar Is Worth More In Canada

Recently figures were issued comparing the cost of living in Canada to that of the United States, our nearest neighbor, and a country whose economy is, in many ways, closely related to our own. These figures were calculated as nearly as possible on the same items and they show that, on the basis of their value in 1939, the Canadian dollar is today worth more than the American dollar, and that Canadian consumers are paying less for most commodities than the Americans at this time. Based on values in the United States on May 15 of this year, it was shown that the American dollar is, in general, worth 60 cents, compared to its value in 1939, while the food dollar is worth only 47 cents and the clothing dollar 51 cents.

Greater Rise Is Indicated

On June 1st of this year, the Canadian dollar was worth 65 cents in general, as compared to its value in 1939, while the food dollar was worth 51 cents and the clothing dollar 57 cents. It was also shown that on May 15th, the cost of living index in the United States was 172.9 while in Canada on June 1st it was 153.1. Prices have risen to some extent in both countries since these figures were compiled, but economists agree that the rise has been more rapid in the United States than in Canada. While it does not help us to know that the American people are facing more difficulties than ourselves in the matter of living costs, it does bring to our attention the fact that the trend is general, and that while the situation here is far from encouraging, it could be much more serious.

Uranium, Rare Metal, Discovered In British Columbia

VANCOUVER. — Uranium, rare metal used in making atomic bombs, has been found in British Columbia, near Gun Lake in the Bridge River district about 15 miles north of the gold mine town of Enderby.

The find was reported in Vancouver by the young prospector who discovered it—Ernest Johnson, 35. It was confirmed officially in Victoria by Dr. J. P. Walker, B.C.'s deputy minister of mines.

"It's uranium, all right," Dr. Walker told The Vancouver Daily Province. "It's the first authentic discovery in B.C. of which we have definite information."

"Our tests of ore samples sent us by Johnson are not finished yet. We don't know how much uranium exists there, and we haven't yet identified the mineral in the samples. We do know, however, that the mineral is radioactive, and that it contains uranium."

U.S. POPULATION TAKES JUMP TO 145 MILLION

WASHINGTON. — Boom growth on the Pacific coast led the United States to an estimated population total of 145,414,000 in 1945; a rise of 8.9 per cent since the 1940 census. The Census Bureau figured the combined population of California, Oregon and Washington rose by 3,981,000 or 40.9 per cent to a total of 13,714,000.

CAN PRAIRIE FARMERS GET ALONG WITHOUT HORSES?

By T. R. MELVILLE-NESS

Central Press Canadian

FOR quite a few years now they've been saying that the horse is finished in the west. Especially since the war ended, farms have been mechanized at a tremendous rate, and the trend continues. Thousands of farms that used to use horses for all field work have switched to power farming, and big barns that used to be filled with horses are either falling apart, or else they are being used to house expensive power machinery.

But supporters of the horse say that most farmers cannot get along without at least one general purpose team, especially in winter. A team of horses, they say, will do chores on mixed farms at far less cost than any other method. They also point out that a horse will get to town when the roads are snowed in, at a time when a car or truck couldn't budge.

Last winter was a case in point. Any farmer who still had a few horses during the months of heavy snowfall early in 1948 had plenty of reason to be glad he had them.

And this year's Class "A" western fair circuit proved that there's still a lively interest in the horse. There were five exhibitions, at Brandon, Calgary, Edmonton, Saskatoon and Regina, and at each one there were good displays of heavy horses. There was also a fair interest in these displays on the part of farmers who had long since switched to power farming.

Classes for heavy horse teams were specially popular at the fairs. In all cases, ringades were crowded when heavy four and six-horse outfits were scheduled to appear.

In spite of a lapse in interest on the part of horse breeders, a few ardent horse-lovers have stayed in the business, and they managed to put on a good show. Judged by any standard, the heavy horse classes were good, and some outstanding individuals were shown.

The greatest spectacle of all, the rodeo, was, if anything, better than ever before at Western exhibitions. While mechanization spreads through the farming and ranching community, there are still plenty of tough cowboys to ride the meanest horse that ever left the chute.

If the public thought the ranching business had abandoned the horse in favor of the airplane or the jeep, they had an eye-opener at the two major rodeos of the west this year, the Calgary Stampede and the Regina Exhibition. Rodeo events were, if anything, better than ever this year. There were more chuck wagon outfits competing in the most exciting western event of all, chuck wagon racing. Bronk riding, with and without saddle, had more entries than ever, indicating that there are still plenty of cowboys on the ranches capable of rounding up the dogs as a stray as a cause rather than behind the wheel of a jeep.

Some heavy horse breeders predict a ready demand for their product a few years hence, when farmers in general realize the usefulness of a team, even on a highly mechanized farm. The thousands of westerners who attend the summer exhibitions hope they are right, for they want to keep the horse in the show picture. He is the basis of all the most spectacular exhibition events, and without him there wouldn't be much of a show.

While the work horse has become something of a rarity on many Saskatchewan farms, thousands of people flock to see the heavy horse classes at Western exhibitions. Experts predict that eventually farmers will decide that a team of general purpose horses on the farm is a great asset, and there will be a return to horses in a few years' time. Here is the Clydesdale team, owned by J. F. Dunham of Fairlight, Sask., winner of four championships on the Western Class A circuit.

A few breeders of heavy horses still manage to stage a show that is watched by thousands of people at fairs in the prairie provinces. Here is an unbeaten champion of the western circuit, Riverbend Monarch, Percheron stallion owned by Jonathan Fox of Lloydminster, Sask. This great horse was reserve grand champion stallion of the breed at the Toronto Royal show last year.

Helicopters Used In Fight Against Pests

CALGARY.—Helicopters have been used to spray the area between Banff, Alta., and Field, B.C., with DDT and Diesel oil, in an effort to kill lodgepole pine needle miner. Three plots of 20 acres each were treated, using different spray deliveries in each section.

The pests have been in outbreak in the Banff Park area since 1942 and first injury to the trees was noted at that time. They are tiny moths about a quarter of an inch in length and very narrow, with silver-grey wings. Larvae, when hatched, begin to mine the needles of pine trees during July and August. During the winter they remain dormant inside the needle, resuming feeding in the spring.

Although the pests will not kill the trees in one year, the present outbreak has reached a serious stage. In 1946 it was hoped that natural factors might stop some of the damages but this year, larvae mortality dropped to about 20 per cent; and permanent injury is reported to trees in the Lake Louise area.

"Oh, no sir," she said, pointing to her husband, who was wheeling a barrow a few paces away. "If I didn't married 'e I'd 'ad to 'ave bought a donkey."

Jones: "That pawnbroker raised his hat to your wife. Does he know her?"

Brown: "I presume he feels that he does; he has seen her picture so often inside the case of my watch."

Bill Jones called in a plumber to fix an upstairs faucet and as he and his wife were coming downstairs they met the plumber coming up. Bill said:

"Before I go downstairs I would like to acquaint you with the cause of the trouble."

The plumber politely removed his hat and murmured: "Pleased to meet you ma'am."

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

Do you feel that being prompt requires too much effort? If so, you are overlooking the fact that promptness pays worthwhile dividends in terms of success and popularity.

All the people with whom you may have relationships in your job — co-workers, customers, employer — will think you are more efficient and dependable if you keep appointments on time. And their good opinion of you can help you get ahead.

Even in off-work hours, promptness can build happier relationships with family and friends. For when you are on time it shows that you are considerate of other people and that you value their time.

How can you become prompt? It's easy! All you have to do is to say to yourself: From now on I'm going to be on time all the time with everybody!

Why not resolve today that you will see how much good will you can build in this simple way?

Life Insurance Companies are justly proud of their record in making prompt payments to beneficiaries and policyholders. It may surprise you to know that such payments in Canada approximate a half million dollars every day.

Are You Interested In Building Your Own Home?

Coleman Board of Trade has been actively engaged in endeavoring to encourage the construction of additional homes in Coleman to help alleviate the acute housing shortage.

It has secured the co-operation of Central Mortgage & Housing Corporation in trying to solve the problem and the next step is to determine how many persons in Coleman are desirous of building their own home with the aid of a loan. A contractor has voiced willingness to come to Coleman to build these homes but only on condition that he be guaranteed a specific number of units.

The Board now desires to secure the names of all prospective builders who would be interested in building a home under the Central Mortgage and Housing Plan. Homes range from $6,500 and up and are modern in every respect.

Blue prints on home design and other particulars can be obtained from the Board upon application to Mr. N. Nicholas.

Names should be submitted to Board Secretary Nick Nicholas within a reasonable time.

Q. I am planning to finance construction of a house under the National Housing Act. Must I use plans provided by Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation? Or may I have plans drawn up to suit my own requirements?

A. You may use your own plans, providing they conform to the CMHC building standards. Now, you may also be wondering just what your plans, which must be submitted with your loan application form should include. Here are the requirements: a dimensioned plot plan, a plan of each floor of the house (including basement), a plan of the attic space (if future installations of rooms are intended), all elevations and a cross-section. Plans should be sufficiently detailed to illustrate clearly the type of construction or be accompanied by larger scale construction details and the over-all exterior measurements, as well as the measurements required for construction of the building. Specifications, outlining the materials, equipment and workmanship you propose to use must accompany the plans. (Specified blank forms may be obtained from any approved lending institution or CMHC office.) At least three sets of plans and specifications should be submitted for approval to the lending institution with which you propose to do business. They will be forwarded for you to Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation for the CMHC stamp of approval, after which they may be used on the job during construction.

Q. How can a lending institution be sure that the money it advances to a builder will be sufficient to build the house? What happens if the house is partially constructed and the money runs out?

A. Naturally, the lending institution has protection in such an eventuality. In the first place, it ensures that the builder has sufficient funds to make up the difference between the loan and the cost of the house. Advances of the loan are made at such points of construction that there is always sufficient money withheld to complete construction. (Lending institutions differ as to the stages when the money is advanced.) The applicants' down-payment is the first money put into the construction.

Q. I've noted in your column that a man can use his own labor for the down-payment in financing a house under the National Housing Act. Does that mean he doesn't have to have any cash on hand if the value of the labor equals the down-payment?

A. The maximum amount of labor that can be termed down-payment — or equity — is certainly not more than 10% of the total cost of the house. If a man obtains a loan of $5,400 for a $6,600 house, he needs $1,200 equity. His labor can hardly exceed 10% — $660. An additional $540 would be needed. Of course, if his lot costs $540 — or if he had material of that value — then his equity is taken care of right there. No additional money, as equity, is needed.

Q. I am a builder intending to build houses for rental. If I borrow under the National Housing Act, is there anything that will guarantee me a return of rentals — or is that just a chance I have to take?

A. At the end of June, an amendment to the National Housing Act dealing with just such a situation became law. The idea behind the amendment was to encourage such people as you — private enterprise in rental housing — by offering an incentive of insured rentals. You must build a minimum of eight units to qualify under this scheme, conforming to the usual CMHC standards.

The units can be one-family dwellings, multiple family dwellings or a combination of both. You must agree with CMHC on costs, and it will be to your advantage, of course, if they go below the figure estimated and agreed upon. Also, the maximum individual rent for the first three years will be determined by CMHC. Naturally, they will have to be reasonable economic rents — limited to not more than $80 a month for a one family unit of 800 square feet on a fully serviced basis — hot and cold water, heating, stove, refrigeration and janitor service. Adjustments to this rent for units varying from this size may be made. The ceiling of the guarantee follows automatically from the determination of the ceiling rents, and cannot exceed 85% of the rents. It may be less as it covers only the following items: taxes (subject to escalator); debt service on mortgage of 85% of estimated costs; operating expenses; repairs, renewals and replacements; a minimum return of 2% on 15% of the estimated costs of the project; rental insurance premium. The insurance premium depends on the length of the contract — 1 1/4% for 10 years, 2% for 20 years and 2 1/4% for 30 years payable annually in advance. At the end of the three year term, there is no restriction on the rents which you may charge. The first requisite is that you must show that you have sufficient capital (together with the mortgage loan) to complete the project.

(Questions on house financing and construction may be directed to this column and every effort will be made to answer them at an early date. Editor).

What To Do For FAINING

FAINTING is a condition due to sudden failure of the action of the heart, which may be caused by hemorrhage; or by fatigue, want of food, or a close or crowded room; or by fright, dread, sudden bad news, or by the sudden relief from fear or anxiety after prolonged suspense.

The signs are: The patient turns giddy and falls; the face is pale; the pulse is rapid and weak, or almost imperceptible; the breathing is quick, sighing and irregular, and the skin becomes cold and clammy.

TREATMENT: —

1. Undo all clothing about the neck, chest and waist.
2. Ensure an abundance of fresh air; open windows and doors; keep back a crowd; remove from harmful gases or impure atmosphere.
3. Sprinkle the face with hot and cold water alternately, and apply warmth to the pit of the stomach and over the heart; vigorous friction of the limbs upwards has a stimulating effect. Smelling salts may be held to the nose.
4. If bleeding has been the cause of the condition guard against its recurrence. The wound will not bleed to any marked extent while the action of the heart is feeble. The wound must be carefully watched to be sure that bleeding does not recur when the patient begins to regain consciousness and the heart's action improves; or, if there is no wound look for signs of hemorrhage from an internal organ.
5. If want of nourishment has been the cause of the condition give food sparingly at first.
6. Give no food or fluids whatever by the mouth while the patient is insensible.

RECIPES

FISH—BAKED, WITH STUFFING

Select a fish weighing from 2½ to 4 pounds. Bake with the following stuffing:

- 1 cup crumbs (bread or crackers, or half and half)
- ¼ cup melted fat
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon celery salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- Few drops onion juice, if liked
- ¼ cup water.

Mix ingredients in order given. If a dry filling is desired, the water may be omitted. Three tablespoons catsup, chopped parsley, capers, pickles, or oysters may be added. Clean and wipe the fish. Rub the inside with salt. Fill with stuffing and sew together. Cut diagonal gashes 1½ inches apart on both sides of the fish and place a strip of bacon or salt pork fat in each gash. Brush with melted fat, sprinkle with salt and pepper. Dredge with flour, tie in the shape of a letter "S" and bake in a dripping pan. When the fish is browned, baste the fish once in 10 minutes. Cook until the flesh is firm and separates easily from the bone.

BAKED RICE AND CHEESE

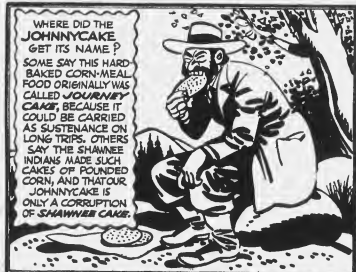

- 3 cups cooked rice
 - Butter
 - 1½ cups cheese grated
 - Milk
 - ½ teaspoon salt
 - Bread crumbs
- Cover bottom of buttered baking dish with rice, sprinkle with cheese, season and dot with butter. Repeat until rice and cheese are used. Add milk to half the depth of rice. Cover with crumbs. Bake at (350 deg. F.) about 20 minutes or until cheese melts and crumbs are brown.

GIRL NEARLY DROWNED IN FREAK ACCIDENT

University Men Say Egg Grading Easy

ST. PAUL.—University of Minnesota farm school men say a housewife can tell whether high-priced eggs really are grade A. If the egg has a round, high yolk and if the cover of the yolk is strong and has plainly-seen white knots on its sides, the egg is grade A. If the egg flattens out and runs all over the dish, or has barely visible white knots on the yolk, farm school experts suggest buying elsewhere.

The latter, they said, may be perfectly all right but they're considerably less than grade A.

KITCHEN MEDITATIONS

BEST OF ALL

By JANE DALE

I like the treats that mother makes To please a little miss.

I like the stories that she tells And I love her goodnight kiss. I like her greeting every morn When the sun is climbing high. It seems to set the day aright When it could be all away.

I like to see her in the house When I come in from play. And I love the welcome in her face When I have been away.

But of the many things she does I love by far the best To feel the comfort of her arms And the softness of her breast.

After a naughty girl I've been And mother's had to scold, I'll cherish those forgiving hugs Until I am ages old!

Health LEAGUE OF CANADA presents TOPICS OF VITAL INTEREST

TRAGIC BUT TRUE!

Dr. Alan Brown, Physician-in-Chief of Toronto's Hospital for Sick Children and Professor of Pediatrics at the University of Toronto, once opened a radio broadcast by telling a little story. We'll quote from Dr. Brown's script—

"As a rule most speakers open their remarks by telling a story. Well, I'm going to open my remarks this evening by telling a story—but it isn't the type of story which will make you laugh and put you in a good humor to listen to the rest of my talk. It is the story of a little girl who spent many months in Toronto's Hospital for Sick Children.

"The little girl's name was Mary. She was the only child of a doctor who didn't believe in the then new-fangled idea of pasteurization—the heating of milk to destroy disease germs. He was so convinced in his own mind that he was right—that pasteurization was a useless and harmful process—that every day he drove out of the town where he lived to get raw milk from a special herd he had picked out as safe.

Develops TB

"This went on for some time, but one day Mary developed a condition which necessitated a trip to Toronto to the Hospital for Sick Children. She had bovine tuberculosis—contracted from the herd which her father thought so healthy and safe.

"Yes, Mary was just another victim of unpasteurized milk—a victim of parental neglect, through ignorance, her case was not an isolated one. Many little Marys and Johnnies have gone through the same thing—and many of them today are crippled from the effects of bovine

Russians Willing To Take Part In Next Olympics

LONDON.—A Russian sports official said Russia intends to participate in the 1952 Olympics "if we are invited."

Evan Hikalagewicz Pletuchow, head of the three-man Soviet delegation to the International Amateur Basketball Federation, said the Russians thought their invitation to form an Olympic committee and participate in the 1948 games came "rather late."

MANITOBA INDIANS GO MODERN

NORWAY HOUSE, Man.—Indians at this Northern Manitoba outpost have decided that civilization is hot only grand—it's health-building. They've taken to sleeping on air mattresses and are finding it much healthier than lying in a blanket on the hard ground.

Another reason: They've discarded the pumps supplied to inflate the mattresses and every night, have a family ritual of blowing up the mattresses by lung power.

Medical officers are pleased with the resultant chest expansion.

tuberculosis contracted from infected milk."

Dr. Brown also stated that "we who know the disease possibilities of raw milk and who have watched the beneficial effect of pasteurization, firmly believe that no sound argument can be advanced against pasteurization."

The Best
 banking system

CANADA has a banking system which, for efficiency and dependability, is unsurpassed in the world. Competitive, flexible, adaptable to the changing needs of the country, it serves Canada's producers, her industries, her traders—and it serves your personal needs, too.

No customer has to fear for the privacy of his regular banking transactions. This privacy is completely free of political pressures or considerations—it is rooted in Canadian banking practice and tradition.

Contrast this Canadian way with conditions in lands where freedom is denied—where every bank is a political tool, every banker a State official! State monopoly of banking, proposed by Socialists here, would fasten the Marxist foreign pattern on you.
